Margherita

The Family-run, mountain campsite “Margherita” opened in 1971 and was named after Grandmother Grittle, the Walser name for Margherita. Besides being a naturalistic paradise for those who love the mountains and sport as well as a place to have fun and relax, Gressoney is also synonymous with Walser and ancient cultural traditions. The facility, situated in a large flat area extending 20,000 sq.m along the banks of the Lys river, at 1385 m above sea level and surrounded by the enchanting cross-country ski tracks, is a stone’s throw from the characteristic town centre and ski lifts of Weissmatten. It is the nearest campsite to the ski-lifts of the Monterosa Ski - Gressoney la Trinité ski district, an excellent starting point for mountain walks in the splendour of the Valle d’ Aosta in summertime.

Given the growing call for holidays aimed at comfort and wellbeing without having to give up the beneficial contact with nature, we decided to offer more: Margherita is now a Resort as well as a Campsite. Our guests now have the additional choice of taking a break in a completely new area which includes a wellness centre and 5 chalets made with the most up-to-date eco-compatible technology for climate-controlled houses, with underfloor heating and solar panels. All our guests can now relax and enjoy a cup of coffee or one of our cakes while sunbathing on the terrace of the new Margherita bar built at the entrance to the Campsite.

resort the 5 elements

The chalets all have underfloor heating and were built using climate-controlled house building techniques, for maximum energy efficiency. The solar panels installed on the roofs also contribute and are perfectly in line with our philosophy of respect for the environment and prudent use of resources. Each unit has a veranda for eating al fresco in the summer, a living room with a compact kitchen equipped with a microwave oven, a dishwasher and washing machine, a table with 6 chairs and a double sofa-bed, a bedroom with a double bed and fold-away bunk beds, a 5 door wardrobe and a bathroom with ante-bathroom. Clients can use the handy ski store with ski boot dryer situated on the veranda.

Our five chalets were given the names of the five elements of the Chinese horoscope because the mountains are the main place for observing the cyclic changes in nature and to appraise the benefits for our bodies. The seasons are the first external example of the 5 forces which alternate cyclically on nature: winter (water), spring (wood), summer (fire), late summer (earth), autumn (metal). Each element is generated by another, which in turn generates the next, just as Spring arrives after a period of winter rest and the explosion of its generating force announces the arrival of Summer.

services

wellness centre, bar, wi-fi, shuttle service to ski-lifts, children’s area, laundry, ski rack, services for the disabled, bike rent service, five-a-side football and volleyball

camping

The camping area has 80 pitches for annual or seasonal guests and 15 pitches for camper vans/towing caravans and a green space for tents in summer. Each pitch has a hook-up for electricity. For our permanent clients there is piped gas for heating, and cooking is made possible by a handy LPG distribution system, which removes the annoying problem of changing gas bottles. All the systems are rigorously certificated in accordance with applicable regulations.

The characteristic wood and stone building has a ground floor with plenty of toilet facilities and a disabled bathroom. Services include 20 token-operated hot water showers, 20 wash basins and 20 WCs.

Guests can do their washing up in a large room equipped for this purpose. There is also a laundry room for washing clothes by hand or in the automatic washing machine/dryer. Campsite guests may park their vehicles in the large car park adjacent to the building, along the perimeter road or, where possible, near their own caravan.

The Campsite also offers delivery of 10 kg propane gas bottles for clients without cars.
